Rule 7: Identity must be authenticated before discussing account-specific remediation

Additional Information

Create a text-first internal policy PDF excerpt with professional corporate formatting. Title: 'KB-4421 — Pricing Disputes, Promotions, and Post-Delivery Adjustments'. Include sections with exact wording or close paraphrase of these policy points: (1) 'The authoritative order record determines the charged amount and purchased SKU/variant.' (2) 'Customer-submitted screenshots are not, by themselves, sufficient evidence for a pricing adjustment unless they clearly display the matching SKU/variant and active promotion terms at the time of purchase.' (3) 'Weekend, flash, and other limited-time promotions expire automatically outside the stated promotional window.' (4) 'If the screenshot contains a generic banner, lacks proof of qualifying variant, or conflicts with internal product eligibility records, agents must deny refund/store-credit requests based on the screenshot alone.' (5) 'Post-delivery price adjustments may be issued only when internal order and product records confirm that the exact purchased SKU/variant qualified and the promotion was active at checkout.' (6) 'Courtesy credits are not permitted for expired, unsupported, or unverifiable promotional claims.' (7) 'Verify customer identity before discussing account-specific remedies.' Add a short example box contrasting a valid claim versus an invalid claim where a banner shows 'weekend sale' but the purchased color is excluded.
