Customer Notification Draft V2

Draft customer breach notice containing proposed language, dates, and remediation statements that may conflict with verified facts and legal requirements.

Document Details

General

entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 states discovery occurred on 2025-02-08 entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 claims Altrix notified appropriate regulators within 72 hours of discovery entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 omits California-specific rights and contact disclosures entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 omits processor involvement and does not identify categories of affected data with sufficient specificity entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 promises all third-party copies were deleted but provides no certification basis entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 offers 12 months of identity monitoring entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 states no evidence of misuse as of 2025-02-12 entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 lacks lead supervisory authority placeholder and lacks EU DPA submission reference entity:draft_notice/customer_v2 references 'out of an abundance of caution' and generic support email only entity:risk/stale_template contains outdated 72-hour narrative copied from prior incident

Additional Information

Create a 3-page draft PDF titled 'Customer Notification Draft v2'. It should look like an internal Word-export letter draft with visible revision date 2025-02-12. Include several legally important defects that agents must spot: state that Altrix 'discovered the issue on February 8, 2025'; claim 'we notified appropriate regulators within 72 hours of discovery'; fail to include California-specific statutory rights/contact language; use vague data-category phrasing instead of listing names, emails, postal addresses, device identifiers, and usage notes; say 'all third-party copies have been deleted' without citing any certification; omit mention of Northbeam Cloud's role; include a generic support email only; and leave out any lead supervisory authority or EU regulator placeholder. Also mention 12 months of identity monitoring and 'no evidence of misuse as of February 12, 2025.' The draft should clearly appear to have been copied from an earlier template.